Program Management and Specialized Support

Proven expertise in project and program management in environments that require precision and safety

Targeted support services to maximize engagement and productivity

WHAT WE DO
CGH offers unparalleled expertise to help build and manage your stakeholder community and support your organization in achieving mission critical goals. We tailor our program management approach to your unique organization’s needs, from project dashboards and leadership development programs to implementation/training materials.

Our team consists of professionals, trained in project and program management, possessing a wide range of certifications including Project Management Professional (PMP), leadership and organizational coach, certified contract manager, risk management, and certified portfolio manager.

OUR APPROACH
We help your organization to innovate and achieve greater levels of program performance. We combine our expertise in organizational management, information technology, and program management to support your goals and manage risk, as programs transition.

Our team of experts conducts thorough analysis and constructs plans that enable you to use your organization’s data and strengthened processes to monitor progress and achieve desired program performance. We leverage best in class methodologies, industry best practices, and specialized tools to make crucial data visible at all times. We develop program/project plans to enhance collaboration and bring agility to your organization’s workflow and decision-making processes.

CGH Technologies, Inc. delivers information engineering solutions and management support services to United States and international government and private sector organizations.

With over 25 years of experience, CGH’s capabilities support your organization in achieving operational efficiencies, compliance with industry standards, and data protection and security.

CGH is a woman-owned, small business headquartered in Washington, D.C., with satellite offices in Virginia, North Carolina and Florida and a workforce spanning all 50 states.

At CGH, every client project reflects our ongoing commitment to excellence, integrity and leadership.

ISO 9001:2008 CERTIFIED
Every business has its own unique identity from technology planning and optimization, to protection of data and systems, to software development and implementation, to process improvement and training. CGH has the capabilities to support you in each one of these areas.”

CINDY TROUTMAN
PRESIDENT, CGH

In-depth knowledge of standard operating procedures and best practices, training, program management, data utilization and acquisition across a broad spectrum of fields

INTEGRATED PLANNING AND RESULTS MANAGEMENT
CGH assists organizations in developing long-range vision and strategic, tactical and operational processes to measure performance, conduct assessments and track and report on results. We also perform evaluations, and provide analytical recommendations for operational, business and performance plans.

SUBJECT MATTER EXPERTS
CGH leverages the experience of our dedicated team across industries and disciplines. Our knowledge of program management industry standards and best practices and our technology expertise combined with our standards for excellence and leadership enable us to assist you in solving your organization’s complex challenges.

STAFF AUGMENTATION
Some skills sets are rare, and those who have them are highly sought after. CGH’s talent acquisition specialists source adept individuals and ensure they are assimilated to excel within your organization.